Requests for testing accommodations should be submitted at the time application for employment is made. Testing accommodation requests that are received after the examination has been scheduled will be considered a request to reschedule. Not all exams may be rescheduled and it may be necessary to reapply at a future date.

Reasonable testing accommodations will be made for persons with disabilities. Some requests for accommodation may require you to submit documentation from a physician. Please indicate what special accommodations you require.

Reasonable testing accommodations will be made for religious reasons. If you cannot test on a specific day of the week, please advise us.
